Rita

Well II yes Now. You know I had my douths at times. But your the kind of girl that keps my hopes up and my future bright. Stay lovable & true and some day our dreams will come true. Even thou you want six kids. I guess we can manage out some way. (our six kids)

Even thou I'm in the army never let our love die. The world changes, so do people, but never let our hearts change. For your the only one for me. And allways will. Don't never let anything rush you into your decissions think them over & talk to other people about them. But afterwards just say its for the best. I love you very much, too much at times. Hang in there, and don't let anything get you down. Just remember you said "I Could have it, So I got you, now give it here, I you! Your getting to be quite a girl. Alot of responsibilities. I'm really proud of you.

A MAN WITHOUT LOVE IS A DAY WITHOUT HOPE IS A SONG WITHOUT MUSIC AND LIKE A POEM WITHOUT WORDS

Love all ways

DUANE

Nita,
You're a real sweet girl and I've sure enjoyed knowing you (you crazy little idiot). Anytime you think of anymore of "your good" jokes call me and tell me. I hope whatever becomes of you and Duane will make you happy and whatever comes to you in life will also make you happy. Remember "All things are possible through Christ." Nita, don't let anyone keep you out of church because it will determine what kind of life you'll have. I hope I have helped you in some way this year.

"Sr. 73"

Nita,
You're a very sweet + cute girl. I wish you the best of luck in the future. See you next year.

Bye
Baker "73"

Nita, one of the sweetest girls I've met. You have been a real friend. I wish you the best of luck in everything you do. I really just hope we can be together next year. I really think a lot of you, Nita, and I wish you the best of luck in everything you do. Always remember the Lord and stay true to Him.

Mita Mae West,
I don't think I've laughed as much in 10 years time as I have in the time since you startin' workin' at J.C. and we started groovin' together. Ha!
I must say you are one of the funniest people I have ever known. Even tho you are retarded
I like you an awful lot. Stay the same and stay away from Dow.
Your sex appeal is just too much for him. unngh!

Lynn

Nita, We have had so many fun times I couldn't ever count them, I won't forget them ever. I hope I can always come to you with my problems, because you are about the only one that can understand me. I wish you & Duane all the luck in the world after all the bad times y'all have had y'all deserve some good times. I hope we can always be honest with each other, because I'm sure don't want to see either one of us get hurt ever.

Love ya Lots,
Tricia

Nita, you're really a fantastic person and I really am glad we became such good friends.
Just remember that if you need anyone to talk to, you know my number. I wish you & Duane all the luck in the world.

Love ya,

Star-Spencer High School

Volume 14

August 30, the school doors were unlocked and the flags were raised.
We walked into a new year in the same surroundings and found new faces with new ideas.
Students were brought together in many ways; Traveling through Russia while in an assembly, yelling with Pep Club members and cheerleaders, running past signs blowing freely as we rushed to classes, and cheering our team on for that extra point.
Knowing I, as a part of the school, as a member of a group, or as an individual, had a part in making remnants.

Nita,
Well this years gone and I didn't really see you that much. Good hope we can be the best Senior Class SS has ever had next year. Be good and take care. Stay with DS and you'll never have any problems.
Love Ya Much

Always Clowning Around Bonita

Each year seems more alive than the last.
Clowns with painted faces and spirit balloons showed me how easy it can be to belong.
Sweat, blood and long hours of strain, were glued together to make the senior float the best.
For the first time, I realized what I was, where I stood.
I was a part of a new majority.
We could decide, win or lose.
Together we selected our queens, our leaders.
We went through a lot of changes around us and within us.
Now all that remains to echo our year are

The goal of a team is to win.
But whether a game was won or lost; we cheered our team on.
Now the games are only shadows

of glorious victories and disappointing losses.
The dances we went to, the activities we shared were only a part of our school life.
Just as each group was a part of a whole; it took each of us to find and make our group complete.

Nita - You're the craziest girl I know. But you've always got something to say - usually it doesn't make any sense! Thanks for helping make this the greatest year of my life.
I hope to see you in the future! Love
Ricky Eisenhour

ABOVE: Enjoying the first free Student Council all-school dance, students listen to Wax Museum on the patio.

Time,
the determining factor of life.
Sometimes the hands of the clock spun so fast;
At other times it seemed seconds dragged on forever.
Free time, something we never seemed to have for long.
Hours unending were spent laughing with friends.
Hanging signs, singing in the courtyard, tossing frisbees . . .
leisurely moments, few and far between as they were, formed

impressions

and now they are all we have left.

"You are to do", "You must be",

echoes from the past were tossed aside along with last year's dress code.

I won the freedom to be more than just a student number.
Though the administration and Mrs. Duke still checked on my absences, and the box on the wall continued to blare the afternoon announcements; the right became mine to think, look, and be myself.
Yet as I went through the daily class-to-class routine, I discovered in many ways What it meant to be a part, a unique and individual part.
For after years of fighting, I had won my rights.
I am eighteen and I can vote.

ABOVE RIGHT: Finding his clothes uncomfortable during a rainy day free-for-all is Larry Roberts, fr. TOP: "Smiling faces," greeting everyone from the first day on rings, pockets, and signs became as much a part of school as students. FAR RIGHT: Watching the Homecoming game before coronation is Miss Tennis and Golf Carolyn Taber. RIGHT: Striving to understand the world around him, Lee Kincheloe expresses himself in his sixth hour Creative Writing class.

Rain;
what would Fridays have been without it?
Queens stood watching Homecoming in mud splattered formals.
Smile posters warmly greeted students making them feel individual, and important.
We were drenched running to a T-building, then were caught up in a Friday Forum in Mrs. Willis' psychology class.
I found myself belonging to a year of silhouettes.

After the applause fades and the rhythm of activities dies, vibrations
are all we have left.

Shoe polish and crepe paper, old standbys from way back, were set out for the Putnam City game and prepared for a full year of use.
Cars decorated on any day but Homecoming, became a thing of the past, as Pep Club members made it known from the first game that

"We're #1."

Although the Bobcats suffered the loss of three games in a row the chanting never ceased.
Mums and dances were a part of a never ending chain.
Yet as faces, places and people change so does each year's experiences.
Each always new and different.
Though the year has passed us by,
And friends have come and gone, There are always pieces of smiles, mind touching experiences, that draw us closer.
The magic of memories Forever keeping us together.

Wondering, asking, and secretly finding warm self-satisfaction knowing I'm someone.
A crown,
Though it may tarnish with age, will always shine with memories Of Homecoming, September 24, 1971.
Tears of joy,
a bouquet of roses, and the sharing of a smile with people I love, taught me what it truly means, to have a dream come true.

I guess September 16 must have been the longest day of my whole life.
Finally 5th hour came and it was time for the attendants' names to be announced.
There I sat

waiting, watching.

No one told me
there was such a feeling.
Butterflies by the millions swarmed inside me.
Wait! My name, yes, I heard it with the names of fifteen others.
Now I know how great it all can be.

School,
"An educational institution," was found to be more than a locker and an English book.
Many discovered the true concept of life through meeting and being with people, friends and strangers alike.
"Ditch Day" activities, held among falling leaves and autumn breezes, helped seniors find smiles all too often left unnoticed.
Some recognized the real persons behind plastic daytime faces, while huddled in blankets fighting the cold at the Folk Festival.
Other identities were captured near the daily conversation places, the cafeteria.
Yet in sharing and experiencing together we realized.

Life is for living.

We were friends working together on undefined goals.

As I glance back

I remember the many hours I spent at the special activities.
The hum of the sewing machine rings in my ears as I remember all the stockings needed for the Pep Club Christmas Dance.
As I put on those old levis splashed with blue and white paint thoughts of fellow Thespians, came into full view,
and I recalled the days spent repairing the new football field.
Though these extras meant time and fun, I studied,
often times not enough.
Scenes changed from screaming at football games to playing in the snow in early December, when we had our first chance at snowball fights and building snowmen.

Though the good times may out last the bad, the many hard problems we explored this year helped us learn about others . . . about ourselves.
Loneliness, an inner fear, grasped a hold on many.
Sitting alone in the cafeteria, standing alone waiting for the bus we were noticed,
Yet no one did anything about it.
While some were involved with Pep Club, spirit campaigns and high-society peer groups,

I found myself.

on the outside looking in.
But as the year passed, like everyone else
I found my place.
I am a loner
But I'm no longer lonely.

"Freak," quite a wide spread term, moved in to show us what it means to be a non conformist.
The subject of drugs switched from the usual hush-hush type problem, to well known, common way of life.
For some, pills and pot were a day to day experiment For others a strictly taboo situation.
And yet for some another familiar "freak", was the Jesus "freak".
Turning on to God helped many of us through the phase of life known as soul searching.
The "one-way" sign, posters supporting Explo' 72, and James Robinson, found many of us high, in a natural way. In each situation we did our thing.

With Bohannon lowering the boom on the Oklahoma City Schools, We found human relations quite a controversial topic.
Could we make it with Dunjee?
Though thoughts were varied and opinions were voiced loud and clear, the fact still remained that it was going to happen.
With this in mind

we worked as one in order to better relations.

"Buddy Day", a special day during Black Heritage Week, as students from Moore and Dunjee met together on neutral ground to talk about some of the common racial problems And though no concrete solutions were layed out it was a beginning . . .
A step toward our future.

Ticking away were the minutes of a very special year . . .

my senior year.

Yet in retrospect I see each day as though it was today; that special class meeting when we measured for caps and gowns;
the last week with all its turmoil of frantic sponsors and last minute preparations, trying to ready us to take the step of becoming Star-Spencer alumni.
As I stand here with my diploma in hand, a tingle of fear runs up my spine.
"It's the first day of the rest of my life"; and I am on my own.

Finally it happened for me.

Stepping out of a shadow into the limelight, I found a little self-assurance.

And though the opportunity hit with sudden impact, as quick as it came it was over.
Now that it's gone
I remember sitting on stage before hundreds of friends as well as strangers, and hearing the echo of my name makes it seem like only yesterday we were chosen as

Mr. & Miss S-SHS.

Burning the midnight oil Might have been the case for some, yet for others, learning was just a natural talent.
Compiling knowledge for many years has led us to the dream of a lifetime.

Admiration by peers and the simple self-satisfaction of achieving an academic award struck home as we received recognition at the annual spring awards assembly.

For many of us,
May was a time of spring fever and love.
Yet for those of us
lucky enough to be chosen for the Leitsizer Awards it was a moment of secrecy.
Unable to divulge any information, we sat awaiting the moment when the assembly was staged and we walked forward.

Yet for others the highlight came when recognition was given to those who had shown outstanding work in the various curriculum areas.
But for each of us it was the time to stand up and be counted as a person, an over-achiever.

Hard practice and stiff competition, whether on the field or in the gym formed

of the sport's year.

A letter, symbol of outstanding work, on the field, court, mat or track, gives a member a chance to join O' Club, the honor of all sports.
Activities came in various forms, such as a post season game with football boys from each class, fighting to win.

Yet as the final buzzer sounded, the cheers declare, seniors and sophomores the best and the yearly events, the formal banquet, initiations, made memories,
to keep for a life time.

The Bobcat grapplers finished the season with a 500 per cent mark by placing fifth in the Edmond and All-City Tournaments.
Seniors Roger Kreke, Dale Beesley, Dana Johns, and Reed Coldiron all placed in the All-City Tourney.
Coach Quintane was asked what he thought about the over all season. "I'm really happy about the way the boys performed on the mat because we've wrestled some good people that were ranked in the top ten in the state. I think we started off slow in duels but we came on real strong toward the end with a lot of victories."

Having a great year the Bobcats' Cross Country team won victories in various invitational starting with the Norman Invitational in which they competed against five other teams for the victory. Under the Coaching of David Smith, the team combined effort and determination toward two big meets of the season, the Capitol Conference and the State meets. The Bobcats retained the Title of Capitol Conference Champs winning against Classen, Dunjee, McGuinness and Northeast. At the close of another season the Bobcats victory echoed thru the halls, "There's a tennis team?" Were the rumors roaming the halls of Star-Spencer this year. But it's true, for the first time there is a tennis team.

Bobcats open their tennis season with five players going out for the team. Sophomores Curtis Thiry, and Shane Smith. Juniors Terry Manees and seniors Kim Warren and Dana Johns. When Terry Manees was asked about the season this year he stated, "We had a pretty good season this year, everyone really tried and worked for a great year. I believe tennis will be a real big sport in the coming years."

Joining and becoming a part, the various organized groups left

which will remain with me forever.

Our new government was made of representatives from each elementary school district. As members of

Student Council,

we strived forward, beginning with a Howdy Dance the second day of school. Still another change was the Folk Festival in November. As the months went by we began reaching out. With December as Peace and Brotherhood month we collected can food for a family. As the integration plan was set before us, we got together with Dungee in hopes of bettering inter-school relations. More important than any of these. We worked with each other.

Minorities . . . majorities, a problem handed down from generation. And in order to break down this barrier

Human Relations,

sponsored the annual Black Heritage Week. With the discussion panel of woman from all minorities we learned the great depressions felt by other people. And through the daily announcements made about famous black Americans, we all discovered facts which have been left out of the modern history books. Yet Black Heritage Week was just the format for the whole existence of this club. For through the help of the group, we have learned to live in peace.

With the initiation of new members,

Honor Society

began a new year.
Initiation was held last spring bringing new members to join the ranks of honor students across the country.
The honor society of math students,

Mu Alpha Theta

kept in tradition of things with the annual Toys for Tots drive.
Presenting the movie "Appaloosa", members collected toys which were presented to the Children's Memorial Hospital.
Other activities came for us in the form of attending the national convention which was held this year at Dallas.
Talking with members from all states showed us changes we could make to help improve our own club.

Unable to figure out where they got the idea to use baby blue paint on our football stadium,

Thespians

decided to set them straight.
So with a strong arm and a bucket of navy blue paint, we made it known just exactly what our school colors were.
Yet that was just one activity from my year as a member.
Of course this was extra.
Because for many of us being a Thespian meant hours of practicing lines and speech in order to stage their two successful plays, with the first being the three-act comedy, Plaza Suite.
Starting Monday mornings off, was being together with friends at Teen Chapel.

Sharing God together through guests and just talking helped me get closer to God and showed me how to share the good news.

ABOVE: Mr. Ed Dowty films a rehearsal on the Audio Visual Machine purchased by funds from the Thespians Society and the school.

With the first play, Plaza Suite, being a huge success, set out to make the second yearly production a smashing success, too. With tryouts on February 4, the cast of David and Lisa found themselves, all too soon, spending many hours rehearsing lines and motions. And though any production has its share of problems this play proved no exception. Shirley Williams who was selected to portray Lisa, found herself confined to bed thanks to her sprained back. But as the play progressed things just seemed to pull together. We also spent time preparing for spring, which brought initiation, the crowning of the royalty and the prospective plans of an overnight trip.

With another year

was confronted with a first.
We were honored with having a student elected to a state office.
Shelly Davis, sr., was elected to the position of treasurer last spring.
Shelly, along with others of us, attended the state convention, at the Skirvin Hotel.
Though this was the final activity, it wasn't the only event headlining the year.
Kicking off the term was the annual Powder Puff Game.
Seniors and sophomores proved victorious while halftime highlights

Facing the often dreaded early morning practices, and giving up many Saturdays, were just two of the many "extras" we had to face as members of the

Bobcat Marching Band

Two weeks prior to the start of classes we readied ourselves for a year of work.

Competing in such parades as Southwestern State's Homecoming at Weatherford and O.U. Band Day at Norman, showed us the pains of stiff competition as well as learning the experience of defeat.

Drum Major David Syth, sr., and Drum Majorette Alicia Crisp, sr., demonstrate the way to lead the BOBCAT Marching Band. Three short whistles and this added movement was the signal given to begin many marching shows for games as well as parades and contests.

December held activities for the Music Department.

Besides the usual rush of Christmas we rehearsed many extra hours in order to prepare holiday music for our performance with the Oklahoma City Symphony. Next on the agenda was the taping of the annual "Our Schools Sing of Christmas," where we performed in an hour long special on WKY-TV. Its needless to say that Christmas time was the high point of the year. Yet the moment we'll never forget was staging the annual Talent Show in the spring.

Medical Careers

provided students with the chance to get involved and to inquire into chosen medical professions by presenting two programs.
Taking place in the fall was the Medical Careers Assembly.
It was presented by Mr. Paige Pfeifer from the Oklahoma Council of Health Careers.
Chances were also provided to attend a Health Career Seminar.
Concentrating on prospects of posible future volunteers,

meetings provided members with time to discuss upcoming work in the medical-social fields.

Taking time out from jobs

C.V.E.

Sales made both in and out of class provided us with enough money for several field trips throughout the year.
One end of school trip took us as far as the Texas branch of General Motors.
Another prime activity was the collection of food among CVE members themselves in order that a local needy family would be provided with a Thanksgiving Basket.
Discussing and working at self-chosen vocations,

VICA

proved it a satisfactory year with a conquered goal of individual achievement.

Helping an orphan in South America started out a year of enthusiasm for members of the Spanish Club.

Using dues as funds

FHA,
had other things on tap in the way of activities. Songs were selected for caroling at nursing homes. Undertaking the annual duty of typing up and printing the program for the Star-Spencer Invitational Tournament,

FTA, found some of the challenges teachers face daily. Gaining literary knowledge through the reading and discussion of books the Campus Reading Club, in its first year of existence helped us prepare for the world of advancing education. With the Rally Club, fading away, an all new club sprang up to take its place. Student Association Support Sports attending all sports events was the prime objective of the 45 boys who joined the ranks of SASS.

Purple t-shirts and striped overalls decorated the halls as we launched the "Bobcat Revolution". Posting signs and reading daily announcements were also part of the plot planned by the

BOBCAT Staff,

Laughter and shouting were just part of the noises heard fifth hour each day coming from EI20, the journalism room and the headquarters of the Bobcat Banner.

Fighting to make the monthly deadlines , as well as putting out a special edition in January, was just a minor part of this life. Singing original songs at the Folk Festival might have been embarrassing for some but for us it was just part of the fun of being on the staff.

And as I learned the basics of putting out a paper, I also learned to work with people.

Before uniforms were removed from their plastic bags, and prepared for a year of wear and tear, many of us found ourselves in the mad rush of getting things together for this year's

For Carolyn Taber and Jimmi Jo Terrell it was modeling with girls from other Pep Club's in the annual John A. Brown Style Show.
For the officers and executive board, day by day summer meetings settled details of Homecoming activities and get the football program ready for printing.
Yet summer could be best known for setting the wheels in motion for a year of accomplishment and a great Pep Club.

The weather during football season almost made me want to quit

and sit home in a nice warm room.
Homecoming seemed surely to be destined for good weather but my efforts and attempts to support the team were drowned by the falling mist.
A demerit captain was always right behind me each time I wanted to talk but neither Vickie Wilson nor Thelma Nixon had any pity.
Traveling to Central State this year the Christmas dance proved to be surprisingly different.
We made millions of signs and hung banners in the gym until I was blue in the face.
Yet, the ending result, victory, made it worth every ounce of time and effort.

Beginning as early as the first week after tryouts, "Practice makes perfect", became the unacclaimed motto of our Cheerleaders.

And though sore throats and pulled muscles were the constant reminders of hours of work, it all seemed worthwhile as we returned home from summer clinic at Oklahoma University wearing a smile and carrying the Spirit Stick award, which we won in competition. Though pep assemblies and games consumed most, if not all our time, fall found us preparing for annual winter clinic competition. Again pride and spirit proved worthwhile as both varsity and freshmen cheerleaders returned home with "Superior" ribbons.

RIGHT: Heading up a second year of progress and change was principal, Mr. James E. B. Sandage. BELOW RIGHT: In hopes of catching a student without a hall pass, Mr. Carl Twidwell, assistant principal, spent many hours at the intersection of A & B hall. BELOW: Explaining details of the elective seminar program to Larry Roberts, freshman, is one of many projects for Mr. James Sandage, principal.

With a change in the weekly format, the second year of administrative duties seemed quite different.
Though day to day schedules went along with ease, there were always the little idiosyncrasies changing the pace.
A three day look and learn visit from the North Central Evaluation Association, kept him on his toes, as did two consecutive days of mid-winter bomb threats.
Yet as Mr. Sandage led the way for the administration,

Mr. Carl Twidwell and Mr. Bruce Miller followed close behind, keeping an eye open for discipline matters.
Talking with us about class changes and scheduling college representatives, kept things bussing in the counselor's office.

Checking attendance slips that often stacked sky high, and assisting students in official matters, were just a couple minor tasks in the daily routine of the secretaries.

It wasn't a bit unusual to see Mrs. Vernon spending an afternoon rolling stack after stack of pennies that were received during the course of a day.
Nor was it uncommon to find Mrs. Lunn announcing brief but countless messages and bus changes.
Yet there was relaxation at last as the secretaries laughingly did their thing over a cup of coffee.
Parking problems, and petty locker thievery became almost unheard of with the addition of a school security guard.

Mr. Bailey, who spent much of his time patrolling halls and parking lots, came to be well known.

I didn't mind, because her first letter looked very much the same.
Shorthand,

PAULA CHILDERS—Spanish I,II,III, English I, Mythology; Spanish Club. NETTIE METHENY—English I,II, Short Stories, Mythology; Junior Class.

LINDA MYERS—English I,II, American Lit., English Lit., Short Stories, Basic Writing. SANDRA ROSE—English I, American Lit.; Pep Club, RAP Club.

HERSCHEL SMITH—English Lit., Creative Writing.

Centralizing on the basic aspects of conquering a new and different language, first year students of foreign languages found a new challenge in learning a whole new vocabulary.
Little Red Riding Hood became a legend for those of us in Spanish II.
Acting out movements and reading lines in Spanish, was quite a chore but with practice we were ready for the stage.
Yet for those of us in Advanced Spanish and French, an hour full of conversation helped broaden our education.
A break from the usual came this year as second semester brought around a change of classes and subjects for students in Language Arts.

With subject matter ranging anywhere from Developmental Reading to Mythology, we got a chance to concentrate on topics of interest to us.

FAR LEFT: Helping sophomore Tony Keough set his controlled reading machine is Mrs. Beatty. CENTER: Playing the leading role in Raisin in the Sun, is Felix Linden, jr. RACQUEL BYRD—Applied Math, High School Math; Mu Alpha Theta.

FRANCIS KILLIAN—Introduction to Calculus, Algebra I, Applied Math, Introduction to Algebra; Sophomore Class.

ROBERT O'BRYAN—Geometry, Applied Math, Algebra I; Mu Alpha Theta.

SANDRA SHOUP—Introduction to Algebra, Algebra II, Trigonometry/Analytic Geometry; Student Council.

With applied math, highschool math or business math as a beginning, the field of

Math became a challenge . . . a goal.

Parallel and perpendicular came to be common terms and proving theorems a snap as I advanced in the field of Geometry.
But Algebra,
a different course of action, introduced something known as logical thinking.
No matter how logical it was the problems never made sense to me.
But somehow I progressed to the real test, the advanced math classes, Trig . . . Analytics . . . Calculus, a self-set challenge and I made it.

LEFT: Explaining a problem to the calculus class is Mr. Killian. This is the first year students were able to enroll in the advanced math class. CENTER: Richard Vann, sr., and Mike Thigpen, jr., illustrate trig problems. FAR LEFT: Doubling as football coach is Mr. Bowman.

Physical Education,

sit-and-read type class, offered a way for us to be ourselves and exhibit our abilities in many ways.
With sweating palms and a stomach full of butterflies, many of us faced our first time behind the wheel in Driver's Education.

Being afraid of hitting a car or even a person were just two of many ills facing us.
Yet practice in the Driver-trainer and behind the wheel soon calmed our nerves, as well as led up to receiving a license.

Special Education,

an ever growing program,

DAVID LOLLIS—Science Seminar, Chemistry, Earth Science, Physics; Science Club. ROGER PURSER—Biology 9, Biology I, Science Club.

MARVIN REHL—Biology I, Boy's Gym; Basketball Coach. ROBERT WATERS—Earth Science, General Business; S.T.E.P.

In-depth studies and experiments involving a great amount of accuracy seldom turned out with pleasing results.
For some of us, a day in Chemistry

nearly always ended in a shamble of broken test tubes and unreadable data notes.
Getting personal with a frog was just part of what was in store for

Biology

students. Yet for those enrolled in Physics and Science Seminar watching constellations at night and an occasional excursion, such as the fall trip to the Planaterium, helped us to understand the wonders of nature.

DAVID SMITH—Boy's Gym, Oklahoma/United States History, Sports 9.

PAMELA WILLIS—Humanities, Psychology/Sociology; Honor Society, Senior Class.

Looking into the past, people . . . places.
Finding the details of where, when it happened, were just part-time jobs of being a part of Searching inside of me and you, became quite a task as we discussed behaviors and habits in psychology sociology.

With Mrs. Willis lecturing on

were created to file away in my mind forever.

Leaders,
each in our own separate way, setting patterns that may be carried yet following traditions set before us.

Spirit, something brought forth when the graduating class discovered its place this year as the senior whistle echoed, letting all within hearing distance know,

"Seniors are Best!"

Each reaching toward this title, as a class, a whole, found it difficult to choose from 281 friends and classmates just two to stand alone as "Best All Around." Nominations and votes were tallied, revealing two individuals outstanding in every aspect.

School isn't all caps, gowns, books, and mind-bending exams for "Most Scholarly" Peter Baxter and Davida McSpadden, as they discover and teach the "art of strings."

A cap and gown of blue and white are signs of graduation, and the beginning of a new life.
I've worked and at last

I've reached my goal

Honor, a word we all were secretly and silently searching for, came in many shapes and forms.
Whether it was an award, or self-assurance, it was up to each of us to find ourselves.
For two, it was serving as "Most Scholarly."
Excellent academic achievement, recognized by those of us who work hand in hand, showed us that learning, and getting involved, can become a worthwhile and fullfilling reward.
Like a plant without food, a person without nourishment will cease to grow, and thus wither away.

Talent, a special flair that makes us stand out in a crowd.
It's that one noticeable ability that makes a person an individual.
On the football fields, talent prevailed through team effort, as we beat the juniors in a special daytime football scrimmage sponsored by the O'Club.

Individual talent still ranked high.
For some it came in the form of musical achievement, for others it was the simple ability to smile and make friends.
In either case our select seniors were honored as "Most Talented" and "Most Friendly."

Trying to sneak into a local drive-in, "Most Friendly" Debbie Vernon and Allen Clark deceptively find their way out of hiding in the trunk of Allen's 1969 Dodge Swinger.

Formal "how do you do's"
as the year progressed.
We came to know and accept each other for what we were.
Our class, made of individuals, had a wholeness, unique and rare.
Our officers, each unafraid to reach out and share himself, conquered the year's obstacles.
The senior float, a first place winner, yet without love and understanding it could have become a complete and total failure.
Spirit week with all its decorations would never have been, quite the same
had we not have won.
Working together, caring together, we earned greatness.

Head Cheerleader Karen Wester, senior, lifts spirits to back the Bobcats in a mighty victory over the Irish of McGuinness.

Most Humorous seniors, Linda Adams and David Syth re-live the old "Bonnie and Clyde" days with guns in hand and cigars in mouth as they attempt a "make believe" robbery at T.G.&Y.

If during May you saw someone in knee pants tricycling down A-hall or while rushing from class to class you happened to notice a sign saying,
"What's this person doing?"
At once you knew it involved a senior.
As seniors, we were well-known for our classic and unfailing humor.
Laughing and making others laugh, turned out to be a pastime both in and out of class.

Two, in particular, were caught in the act too often and were consequently singled out, as "Most Humorous."

Everything I've known for the past few years is passing before me.
No longer will I awake to signs that scream, "Bobcats defeat them all."
Nor will I find myself sitting in a class meeting talking over final details of the prom.
Yet, as I prepare to enter a new and exciting world, I see things that I've never known before.
College . . . a career.
Where will I go?
What will I be?
Only time will tell.
But somehow I know,

I can make it;

because of people,
teachers, counselors, friends.
I learned to live,
to be my own person and I was honorably discharged.

Starting a new tradition, senior Craig Anderson, with whistle in hand, blows loudly, and the familiar cry of, "YEA SENIORS", fills the air.

Seeing old familiar faces and getting plans set for the upcoming year were the objectives of the first class meeting held the third week of school.
At this meeting the first order of business was to nominate and vote for the officers of our class.
Tabulations were made and Myron King, Kenny Wilson, Mike Thigpen, and Nan Still found themselves

for the year '71-'72.
Parking assignments and as Mr. Twidwell explained plans and procedures

Planning the prom is one of the many duties of the junior class officers. The officers are Kenny Wilson, vice-pres.; Nan Still, sec.; Mik Thigpen, trea.; and Myron King, pres.

Discussing their plays before the annual rivalry between the juniors and seniors are junior football players, Martin Lackie, Larry Lowery, Larry Nelson, and Myron King.

There's just one word that can be used to describe my year as a junior, participation.

Besides being a part of Rap Club and Student Council, I recall the early morning meetings of the Junior Council.
Making final decisions about which band would play and what theme we'd use for the Junior-Senior Prom, were just small pieces of a year gone by.
And those raffle tickets for a side beef, thousands to be sold . . . bought.
It was up to us.
The shocked and surprised face of a winning fellow junior, somehow made it all worthwhile.
Hours of spirit and hope were bound together to form "Spill the Millers," a prize-winning yet "disqualified" Homecoming float.

A scrap book filled with memories
of a year gone by,
corsages . . . tickets . . . newspaper clippings.
Leafing through the pages I uncover keepsakes, though important at that time, seem quite trivial and unimportant now.
Yet there is one special article torn from the Bobcat Banner I will cherish always.
It was the announcement that I had been selected Class Favorite.
And though the paper has yellowed with age, the visions of that day are still clear in my mind.
Because knowing my class chose me was an experience of a lifetime.

Though from the beginning of school you've started to make a decision about ambitions, goals; your junior year

seems to be that time to set the wheels of life in motion.
This was the year of opportunity.
The chance to go to special meetings, both in and out of school.
The first step in applying for scholarships came into full view.
The option to become someone faced Moses Williams, who through outstanding athletic ability, was named KOMA Prep Player of the week.

was to be the best.

Bound and determined to be number one,
we found many obstacles.
All too frequently the Bobcat Banner headlines read, "Seniors stomp juniors," Or "Juniors face defeat." Yet with chins set firm, defeat was taken in stride.
For we had a spark of light that outshone any misfortune.
It was something we called pride.
One of many things that brought us honor at games, assemblies, and contests was the spirit displaced by the five junior cheerleaders.
With cries of

"Yea, Juniors"

we discovered pride and spirit that will last a lifetime.

"Inbetweeness", a feeling I discovered this year.
Yet there were special memories that overruled the dark days.
For many of us,
it was a birthday.
Sixteen,
a long awaited age, came with all the nervousness I'd expected.
The written exam, was nothing in comparison with the skills it took to pass the drivers test.
Yet I discovered a new air of freedom.
A drivers license . . . a car, two long awaited moments.
And along with this age was the first sincere feeling of growing up.

Representation,
a big part of life,

would stand proud

Learning what is meant to work together as one, was one of many objectives we set as sophomores.

The assigning of editorial positions, and the writing of a front page story, were all new experiences for 24 of us who set out to work on a school paper.
Sticking to conventional format, yet improving upon mistakes made by last year's staff, we established the Bobcat Banner as an A+ paper.
Teaming-up with seniors, on the football field we proved sophomores worthy in every respect, as we defeated the junior and freshman girls in the fall Powder Puff Game.

Following the reading of the play Julius Caesar, freshman Dan Lorig searches for more of Shakespeare's writings in the library as part of the newly-structured English department.

Books of all sorts and sizes stacked in piles or carried from class to class just seemed to be the main trait of our class.

As frosh we studied what seemed to be constantly . . . consistently.

And though upperclassmen did their share of perfecting the three R's we are known for our many hours spent in the library, at home,
or any other quiet corner.
Yet they tell me it will get better.
How . . . when,
I'll never know.

With a queasy feeling in my stomach, I walked through the front door into an all new adventure, high school.
As I checked the IBM list to find my first hour class, in the crowd
I noticed warm faces of former classmates from Rogers Middle School and immediatedly my nerves were calmed.

I was among friends.

And now, as I look back on the first day of school as a freshman, I chuckle because I know it was just the beginning of four special years and many unseen escapades.

Senior Dale Beasley demonstrates wrestling holds for freshman Rusty Saterlee. Freshmen often received extra instruction from upperclassmen in many aspects of high school life.

Popularity was something I found this year as a freshman.
Not through masked charades or fake smiles but by the simple fact that I was myself.
I didn't completely know who I was at first, but as the days went by

I learned.

My friends voted me
class favorite.
A dream . . . a wish come true right before my very eyes, and I must admit it went to my head a little.
But as time passed,
I made up my mind to live my own life.

Being pushed to the rear, and being put down for the simple reason I was a freshman, didn't stop me.
I knew where I stood.
If you noticed,

frosh were ready and willing to be a part, to join the ranks of classes before us.

Taking part in clubs helped us show upper-classmen that we weren't what they thought.
In many instances, one being Pep Club,
we were the majority.
We had more members than any other class.
We proved we had pride and spirit to spare.

Remnants,

the last remaining indication of what has been.
Although another year of school is over, the knowledge we've been taught will echo through our lives.

Classmates will soon become faces without names as

are all that will remain.
In every sport we found ourselves in competition with

of the past.
Projects and initiations left

of the organizations we were members of.
Yet, always moving, never ceasing our lives as students sent

never ending throughout the years.

LEFT: Teachers often appear ten feet tall to students, with their previous years of stored knowledge, as does Mr. Senter, electronics teacher. FAR LEFT: An early spring outing means a few moments of relaxation for students as they attempt to fly their kite. TOP LEFT: Demonstrating his techniques for tennis tryouts is sophomore Curtis Thiry. TOP: Explaining to visiting Moore students some of the points to having a special week set aside for a Black Heritage Week Program is senior Nancy Davis. ABOVE: Fighting the frustrations of life and coming exams, junior Eddie Buck searches inside himself for the right answer.

it's todays memories that make tomorrow's remnants.

Nita,

You have really been a good friend this years and we've had so much fun being on the newspaper staff. You have a great personality and you're so funny. I hope you have alot of love and happiness in the years to come. Good Luck.

Love,

"Sr. 74" Darcee

Nita
To a good

Nita,
To one of most nicest girls that I know.
it sure doesn't seem right that we will be seniors next year but we will and I hope that you Duane are very happy together and plea stay together. Be thinking of me cause I'll be thinking of you and all fun that we have had together. Be good and carefu always.

Nita
I think you are the of the coolest and most awesome person I've ever met. Keep that way and things will always go right for you.
Be good, and God bless, Love Yvonne

Nita, (nutty)
Your a very sweet + cute girl, but this is an old record it seems like. I just want you to know that I treasure our friendship. I hope your happy now + in the future. Just keep smiling always and be the same old sweet Nita I know. Love ya much. Good Luck with old Duaney.
(Big ugly.) "Sr. 73" Luv. Duaney

Nita
Your really a cool person to talk too. Your a little nutty but alright. I hope you really have a great summer. I'm glad I made friends with you. Your real sweet.
"Sr. 75" Nettie

Nita,
All I can say is get married and have lots of kids.
Be good,
Terry Mowees

Dear Nita,
Thanks for being a friend. I'll always remember you. Have a great summer. Keep smiling and stay sweet.
Love,
Julie
